

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A hands-free, personal hydration system utilizes a peristaltic pump to deliver fluid from a reservoir through a drinking tube to a user's mouth. The pump can be activated by the user's lips completing a circuit upon touching the mouthpiece for a drink.